Introduction to Fife and NHS Fife

DEMOGRAPHIC AND SOCIAL PROFILE OF FIFE

The Kingdom of Fife is a peninsula in eastern Scotland with a coastline of 170 kilometres (105 miles) bounded by the Firth of Forth to the South and the Firth of Tay to the North. It is the third largest local authority area in Scotland with a population of 367,292. This represents 7% of the total population of Scotland. 96% of Fife residents live in 134 settlements, the largest of these being Kirkcaldy, Dunfermline and Glenrothes. 59% of residents feel they have access to quality green space, from award winning beaches to historic town parks.

Fife share inland boundaries with Perth & Kinross and Clackmannanshire, and is divided into seven administrative or business areas:

- Cowdenbeath
- Dunfermline
- Glenrothes
- Kirkcaldy
- Levenmouth
- North East Fife
- South West Fife

By 2023, the population of Fife is expected to increase by 6.5% to 387,214. The 16 to 19 age group is expected to reduce by 6.5% against the 2008 base year, and those aged 75+ are expected to see the greatest increase (77%). This may be attributed to a declining birth rate and increased life expectancy in Fife, which is currently greater than the Scottish average for both males and females.

The baseline for the minority ethnic population in Fife is still the 2011 Census. This estimated that approximately 1.6% of Fife’s population were from an ethnic minority group, with the highest percentage categorised as Asian Pakistani.

The extent of deprivation in Fife is fairly evenly spread across the different datazone bands from most to least deprived. The 2009 Scottish Index of Multiple Deprivation (SIMD) indicates that Fife has an increasing share of Scotland’s most deprived areas. Fife has the sixth highest local authority share of the 15% most deprived datazones in Scotland. 51 (5.2%) of the 976 datazones in the top 15% across Scotland are located in Fife, 8 of which fall into the top 5%. The 2009 data also confirms enduring deprivation in specific areas of Fife.

The proportion of young people not in education, employment or training in Fife is higher than for Scotland overall. The proportion of the working age population with no qualifications is 10.4 per 100,000 of the population, which is also below the Scottish average. Physical health data is positive and among the best in Scotland. This shows evidence of good general health and nurture, and the emergency hospital rate is lower than the Scottish average.

In recent years Fife’s economy has moved away from traditional manufacturing industries towards the service sector.
NHS Scotland – Strategic Context

NHS Scotland consists of fourteen regional NHS Boards, seven Special NHS Boards and one Public Health Body. In the region of 160,000 people are employed by NHS Scotland overall.

14 Regional NHS Boards:

NHS Ayrshire and Arran
NHS Borders
NHS Dumfries and Galloway
NHS Fife
NHS Forth Valley
NHS Grampian
NHS Greater Glasgow and Clyde
NHS Highland
NHS Lanarkshire
NHS Lothian
NHS Orkney
NHS Shetland
NHS Tayside
NHS Western Isles

7 Special NHS Boards & One Public Health Body:

NHS Education for Scotland
NHS Health Scotland
NHS National Waiting Times Centre
NHS 24
Scottish Ambulance Service
The State Hospitals Board for Scotland
NHS National Services Scotland
Healthcare Improvement Scotland

Each NHS Board is accountable to Scottish Ministers and is supported by the Scottish Government Health and Social Care Directorates. At Present the Director-General of Health and Social Care and the Chief Executive position of NHS Scotland are held by Paul Gray.

Every Regional NHS Board has the responsibility of protecting and improving its population’s health and ensuring the effective and efficient delivery of frontline health care services. The regional NHS Boards are supported by the Special NHS Boards which provide a variety of specialist and national services. The differing boards co-operate and work together to support Scotland’s population. They also work closely with partners in other parts of the public sector to fulfil the Scottish Government’s Purpose and National Outcomes.
Quality HealthCare

The Healthcare Quality Strategy for Scotland was introduced in May 2010. This set the foundations for those who deliver healthcare services in Scotland to work with the public and external partners towards the three Quality Ambitions and shared vision of providing world-leading healthcare which is safe, effective and person-centred. It is this notion, along with a focus on quality healthcare that influences all strategic and operational decision-making across NHS Scotland.

2020 Vision for NHS Scotland

After the launch of the Quality Strategy, the Scottish Government revealed its ambitious plan for integrated health and social care and set out the ‘2020 Vision’ and Strategic Narrative for achieving sustainable quality in the delivery of health and social care across Scotland. Everyone working in Scotland’s health care sector has been asked to contribute and play their part ensuring that this vision can indeed become a reality.

Performance Management in NHS Scotland

Annually the Scottish Government sets NHS Boards with performance targets in order to ensure that resources made available to them are directed at areas which are a priority for improvement, and are consistent with the Scottish Government’s Purpose and National Outcomes. These targets are focused on Health Improvement, Efficiency, Access and Treatment (also known as HEAT targets).

Working in Partnership with Local Authorities and the Third Sector

NHS Scotland is committed to working in partnership with local authorities and the Third Sector. This is fundamental in achieving a healthier Scotland and meeting the forthcoming demands of the years ahead. “The Quality Strategy provides NHS Scotland with a basis on which partnerships such as the aforementioned can be formed. This is done through Community Planning Partnerships which secures progress towards the three Quality Ambitions, and the outcomes agreed locally and nationally through the Single Outcome Agreements and the National Performance Framework” (http://www.scotland.gov.uk/Topics/Health/About/NHS-Scotland).

History of NHS Scotland

“There is not a single person in Scotland today who has not come into contact with our NHS Scotland.

The National Health Service (Scotland) Act 1947 came into effect on July 5, 1948 and created the National Health Service in Scotland. Many sections of the Act were repealed by the National Health Service (Scotland) Act 1972 and the remaining provisions were repealed by the National Health Service (Scotland) Act 1978.

The achievements of the NHS in Scotland are best brought to life by the stories of the people whose lives it has touched. If you visit the Our NHS Scotland website you can learn about the stories of 65 people whose lives have been transformed by NHS Scotland. You'll also discover how the NHS came into being in Scotland - a story that isn't widely known (http://www.scotland.gov.uk/Topics/Health/About/NHS-Scotland).

Brief Overview of NHS Fife

NHS Fife provides healthcare to the 370,000 residents of Fife and employs around 8,700 staff. As a large rural area with varied geography and several centres of population, there are particular challenges to meet the health needs of the people of Fife. Alongside the Victoria Hospital in Kirkcaldy and the Queen Margaret Hospital in Dunfermline, NHS Fife has 8 community hospitals spread throughout the Kingdom.

Improving Services Provided by NHS Fife

NHS Fife, along with help from its partners, the public, other NHS Boards, Fife Council and voluntary agencies, is working to improve its services.

Community Health Partnerships, utilising staff with a mixed skill-base, can strive to ensure that more problems can be dealt with taking away the need for onward referral to other departments. This has been possible due to the continuous development of services within NHS Fife.

NHS Fife recognises the importance in health promotion and has recently been tackling the issue of smoking. Smoking and the cessation of it has been heavily promoted to encourage smokers to quit and to work on prevention to stop people from starting in the first instance. This has been done simultaneously with addressing issues such as; alcohol abuse, the importance of maintaining a health lifestyle and improving sexual health.

January 2012 saw the grand opening of the new wing at the Victoria Hospital in Kirkcaldy. The new wing is home to NHS Fife’s acute services namely; Maternity Services, Intensive Care, Children’s Unit, Surgical and Medical Wards and A&E.

Moreover, Cupar’s Adamson Hospital has recently been redeveloped. The redevelopment was done by refurbishment and partial new building works. This has created “a new Physiotherapy Department, Out-Patient Department (containing a Minor Injuries Unit and Treatment Room), In-Patient Ward, X-Ray Department, Rehabilitation area, Administration offices and a Child Health Unit situated on the new first floor” (http://www.nhsfife.org/nhs/index.cfm?fuseaction=nhs.displaytheme&themeid=E44C37C3-5056-8C6F-C003CD63C15D8FF0).
In addition the Queen Margaret Hospital Dunfermline has work underway to rearrange the services it provides. It is here that a state-of-the-art diagnostic centre for Fife continues to be developed.

Disability

The Disability Discrimination Act 1995 and Amended Regulations 2005 defines disability as follows: “any physical or mental impairment which has a substantial adverse effect on a person's ability to carry out normal day to day activities”. NHS Scotland is “Positive about disabled people”, and as such we provide job opportunities for disabled people. NHS Scotland operates a Job Interview Guarantee (JIG), which means that if you have a disability, and meet the minimum criteria outlined within the person specification, you will be guaranteed an interview.

If this applies to you, please tick this box □

Please specify any particular requirements you need if attending for interview (e.g. Induction Loop, Wheelchair Access, Signer)
